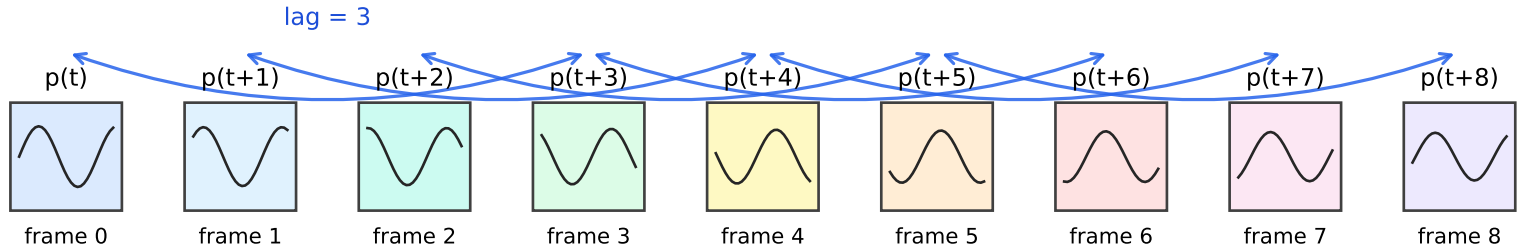
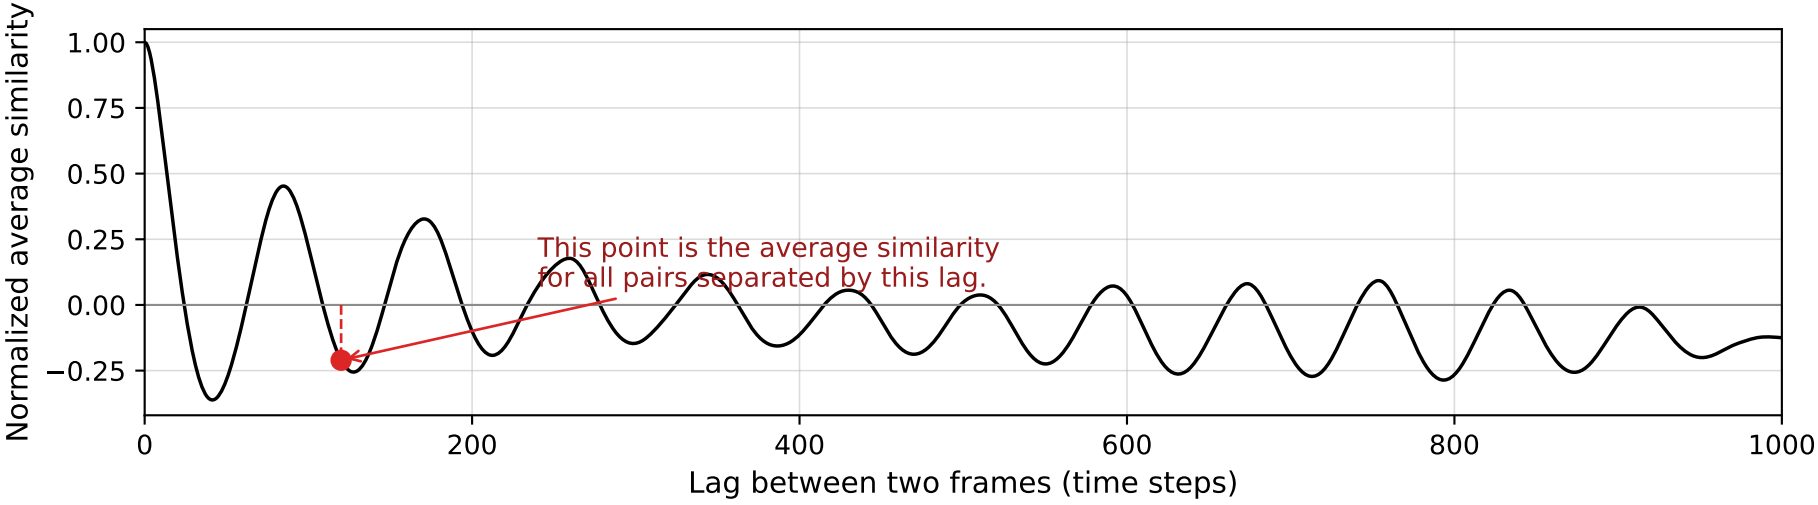
Illustration of the time-lag autocorrelation calculation



For one lag, compare all frame pairs separated by that lag, then average their similarities.

A time-lag autocorrelation curve repeats this operation for lag 0, lag 1, lag 2, ...


The zero-lag value is used as the reference, so the curve starts at 1.